

Adventure Kit

for "The Badger and the Magpie"

A quiet invitation to wonder — for little ones and their grown-ups

Colour the badger, the magpie, and the forest — and imagine what it means to be kind, even when it is not easy

Kindness in Winter

- Brokk fed Zia when she was cold and hungry. Think of a time when someone was kind to you — or when you were kind to someone else. Write or draw that moment.

A Question to Wonder About

- What does it mean to be brave? Is courage always loud, or can it be quiet too?
 - Write or draw your answer below

I know that kindness and courage belong together

Name: _____

Date: _____

Brokk fed a stranger. Zia faced a wolf. They were different — but they were stronger together.

For Grown-ups

- ▶ This Adventure Kit is a quiet invitation to notice kindness and courage — not as separate things, but as companions. You do not need a forest or a wolf to explore these ideas. A quiet conversation, a shared meal, or a moment of standing up for someone can hold the same wonder. Let the child lead, and let the badger and the magpie teach us that even our differences can become the root of something strong.
