

Adventure Kit

for "The Path That Was Not There"

A quiet invitation to wonder — for little ones and their grown-ups

A girl walking beside a spring, with a heron watching from the edge of the water

A walk in your neighbourhood

- Think of a path you know well — the way to school, to the shop, or to a friend's house. What do you notice along the way? A tree that leans a certain way? A gate that is always open? A fence with a story behind it? Write or draw that moment.

A Question to Wonder About

- *Have you ever taken a different route to a familiar place?
What did you notice that you had never seen before?*
 - Write or draw your answer below

I know that even familiar paths can hold surprises.

For Grown-ups

- This Adventure Kit is about noticing, not venturing. It invites children to look more closely at the paths they already know — and to trust their own curiosity, without stepping into uncertainty. All activities are designed for safe, familiar environments.
